With a military ID card or other US Government ID, you should also be able to also use the Main Gate (Arnold Gate).

Getting to Joint Base Anacostia/Bolling

Joint Base Anacostia/Bolling/ (JBAB) is a combination of the previously well-known Bolling AFB and Anacostia Naval Air Station and conveniently located to DC at the confluence of the Anacostia and Potomac Rivers.

From the south, JBAB can be reached off of I-295 going north from I-495 just east of the Potomac River or from the north traveling south on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway (BW Pkwy turns into I-295) from I-495. There is METRO service on the GREEN LINE but JBAB is not within walking distance of the METRO stop. There is MARC train service from BWI to Union Station (where you catch the METRO), and for folks coming into Dulles, there is an express Metro Bus (5A) for $6 that drops off at the Rosslyn Metro Station and the L'Enfant Metro Station, with two intermediate stops at Tyson's and Herndon. The closest and probably safest METRO stop to hail a cab would be Navy Yard on the GREEN LINE.

JBAB is directly across the river from Reagan National airport and cab fare is approximately $20. Cab fare from BWI or Dulles International would be approximately $75-100.

Airports

If you can, please make any flight arrangements to arrive at Reagan National Airport. If you plan to rent a car and will not need transport from the airport, please inform BMCS Cochran or CDR

Hines. Arrangements have been made to pick people up at Reagan National airport, if needed.

- Washington Reagan National – 8 miles from Bolling AFB
- Baltimore Washington International – 35 miles from Bolling AFB
- Dulles International – 35 miles from Bolling AFB

Lunch on Tuesday will be in the District someplace (maybe the Police Memorial Tent City located near CGHQ) as we will not have time to return to the base.
